THE 1949 WOLF

LOYOLA

Within these pages we attempt to give you a bird's-eye view of Loyola Life. We have tried to make the 1949 WOLF a lasting memorial of this year spent in study, a memorial also of the lighter side of college life. If in years to come, you look at these pages with fond memory and derive moments of happy recollection, our purpose will have been achieved.

Our President

Loyola has been fortunate to have at its helm, during the past four years of expansion, a man whose ability and personality have served as guide and stimulus to the University. Such a man is our President, the Very Reverend Thomas J. Shields, S.J.

To the students Father Shields is the ideal president. Newcomers to the campus soon learn that he is as likely to be observed talking to a group of students as to be seen seated in his office interviewing distinguished visitors.

Father Crandell Greets French Naval Officers

Because of the genial and efficient manner in which he conducts his office, Father A. William Crandell, S.J., has exerted a profound influence on both students and faculty.

Besides being Dean of Faculties, Father Crandell also serves as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, governing it with marked success. His readiness to see the students at all times and to listen to their problems make him one of the most popular men of the faculty.

Father Lester F. X. Guterl, S.J., A.B., A.M., the Dean of Men, first came to Loyola in 1943. In his office, you will always find students wanting to know the "why" of University regulations. This may call for holding a place in a waiting line, but any student will find here a place to voice his opinion. Whether the reply be in the affirmative or negative, it is always accompanied with a grin.

SCHOOL OF LAW

Dean Miller talks informally with faculty member

Vernon X. Miller, A.B., LL.B., J.S.D., has been a member of the University's Faculty since 1938. Between 1940 and 1945, he twice served as Acting Dean of the School of Law. On December 15, 1945, Dr. Miller permanently assumed this position. In the legal atmosphere of the Law School something of the Dean's dignity is felt, but outside the Law School he is just plain "Doc."

Col. Padgett was assigned by the War Department on July 1, 1947 to command the Loyola Unit, which was then merely a unit on paper. He was also to act as Professor of Military Science and Tactics. Under his guidance the Loyola Unit has become one of the outstanding R.O.T.C. units in the nation.

Cadet Lt. Col. Lentini was appointed the Cadet Battalion Commander in September 1947. A veteran of twenty-six missions over Germany and the holder of the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters. Cadet Lentini was awarded a plaque by Maj. Gen. Parker. He also received an appointment to the regular Army.

On an informal inspection tour, Maj. Gen. Parker, the Provost Marshall General of the Fourth Army Area, was highly complimentary with regard to the officers and the men of the Loyola Cadet Corps. Gen. Parker also expressed high expectations for the Loyola Corps, basing his expectations on the character formation of the individual cadet resulting from a Catholic education and the efficiency of the instructors.

Because of the great influx of veterans into college life, the Loyola Unit found a ready welcome among these men who realized the importance of rounding out their education with military preparation. Their contribution to the Loyola Unit cannot be overestimated. There may be found in this unit veterans who served in every theatre of operation. Upon entering the Loyola R.O.T.C. these men had the advantage of being well indoctrinated in the discipline necessary to military life and already possessed to

Now that the unit has completed its second year, many veterans who composed the nucleus of the Loyola Unit are now second lieutenants in the Army of the U. S. Some of the graduates have been offered appointments in the regular army, others have been classified as distinguished military students and will have the same opportunity upon graduating from the University.

Many of the men of Loyola who have been commissioned did active duty during the summer months and reports of outstanding ability and efficiency came down from various headquarters with which they served.

THE WOLF PACK

Hard hit by the graduation of star players, The Wolfpack of 1949 failed to be winning team. Showing a record of 11 wins and 16 losses, the Pack lacked height and experience. In 1949 the Pack entered the Gulf States Conference and showed a conference record of 7 wins against 9 losses.

After two opening victories over Keesler Field and Pensacola Navy, the third contest, with Alabama State Teachers, was the first loss of the season for Loyola. The next game was a victory, this time over Howard College by a score of 54-41.

The Northwestern Demons from Nachitoches, Louisiana, journeyed to the Crescent City to supply the Wolfpack with its first Gulf States Conference competitor. Loyola was the winner by a score of 57-43. Clyde Poche and "Pancho" Vila led the winners with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Bob Rehm and Freshman Lou Bravo stood out on the defensive.

After two losses to Houston University, The Men of the South returned to play Spring Hill College in the annual Homecoming tilt. Led by Bill Treuting and Vila, the Pack won by the score of 43-34.

Three successive losses then followed for the Pack. The Camelia Bowl game with SLI was the first. The second was a rough game with LSU, and the third was a one-sided affair with the Tennessee Vols. But a string of victories followed as the Pack beat Delta State Teachers, Mississippi

Loyola's next three games on the road were disastrous. First Spring Hill beat the Pack by a score of 55-37; then in two important conference games with Northwestern and Centenary, the spiritless Pack was squelched by scores of 61-35 nd 47-35. Back on home territory, the Pack continued the losing streak as SLI beat them 47-35.

Winning over twenty games, the Wolfpups of 1949 showed their usual spirit and ability. The squad made the finals of the SAAU tournament but was edged out by a slightly superior U. S. Engineer team. This quintet, incidentally, was sparked by a trio of ex-Wolfpups.

T R A C K

Loyola University reentered the field of track in 1949 after a layoff of nearly a decade. "Big Jim" McCafferty stepped into the position of head track coach and managed very well with the talented but young group of men.

In the SLI relays, the newly formed squad managed five points and eighth place. Elmer Grundmeyer and Lou Hauth stood out for Loyola.

Two triangular meets followed on the Pack's schedule. In the first, with Southwestern and Louisiana College, the Wolves were second. First places were won by Ray Grenier in the 100 yard dash, Lou Hauth in the javelin, Ernie Miller in the discus, and Joe Fuselier in the 880 and the 440 relay teams. The other meet with Southwestern and Southeastern found Loyola with only two first places and one tie for first.

In the GSC meet, Loyola was in third place with 56½ points behind Southwestern with 91 and Southeastern with 64. Elmer Grundmeyer won first place in the 100 yard dash, Jack Eumont won the javelin and Ray Bordes tied for first in the pole vault.

With a record of fifteen wins against four losses, the Loyola Baseball team of 1949 was perhaps the best in history. But in spite of the fine caliber of ball, the boys were unable to clinch the Gulf States Championship, and ended up in second place.

The season got under way with a double victory for the Pack over Illinois Southern. Ellis Quigley started the first game and got credit for the win. Pete Tusa led the Pack at the plate with three singles. In the second contest, freshman Eddie Konick pitched the Pack to an 8-1 win. Weldon Cousins hit a homer.

The next game, with Keesler, was another victory for Konick. Coming in to relieve Don Robinson he secured a 7-6 win for the Pack. Cousins, Bill Glennon, and Al Wiedemann started at the plate. The winning streak continued for the Pack when they beat the U. S. Merchant Marine team 16-3 in Pass Christian, Mississippi. Maurice Landrieu notched his first victory of the season as Cousins and Vila did some great stickwork. After victories over Keesler Field and Algiers Navy, Loyola was ready for GSC competition.

Three straight victories for the Pack over Louisiana College, Southwestern and Southeastern, put the Pack on the top of the league. The winning pitchers were

Infielders, Vila, Shirer, Cousins, Tusa, Crossin

Quigley, Konick and Robinson. It was at this stage, however, that a losing streak started for the Wolves which doomed them to second place in the Conference. Losses at the hands of Mississippi Southern, Southwestern, and Louisiana Tech come in rapid succession, the first was a heartbreaking 1-0 loss for Konick. Quigley lost the second.

The remaining five games of the season were all victories for the Pack. Spring Hill was the first to be beaten at the hands of Don Murphy and Konick. Then the Pack made up for a previous loss by lacing the Mississippi Southerners by a score of 13-5. Northwestern lost to Loyola twice by the scores of 6-2 and 4-0. Finally the Southeastern Lions were hammered to an 18-3 loss.

In 1949, Captain Weldon Cousins hit at an amazing average of .440. Ending his college baseball career in this fashion, he will always be regarded as one of the school's greatest athletes.

BOWLING

Because of the efforts of A. Gerald Lacey, the Bowling League of 1949 continued to be one of the most spirited and interesting activities on the campus. Winners in the men's divisions were APO and Dentistry, while the lady's division was won by APhA. Steve Dimak was individual high scorer. Awards were presented to winning teams and individuals and a handsome trophy was given to Lacey for his tireless work.

ties, the student campaigns and activities, the members of the faculty, and the cherished friends of college days.

The purpose of the Wolf is to capture some part of you—fellow student—in your activities around the campus. It tries to mirror the spirit of this Catholic university and of the Catholic men and women whose characters are moulded here.

Under the leadership of Paul Seckso, William Donner, and Joe Famiglio, this year's presentation of the Wolf revolves around the expansion program that is taking place at Loyola.

It is the sincere wish of the Wolf Staff that as you—fellow student—look upon this book, you will become conscious of the fact that it is your year book—the Loyola student's book. May it help you in the years ahead to keep ever fresh the good old college days.

THE STUDENT RETREAT

An annual activity of Loyola University, the Student Retreat is designed to make the student put aside his studies and worldly cares for a few days and turn his full attention towards God — his Creator. Based upon the retreat exercises started by Saint Ignatius Loyola, the Student Retreat affords the students the opportunity for introspection — the opportunity of discovering if they are doing their best to live a wholesome Catholic life.

A limited number of men students go to Manresa for their retreat while a limited number of co-eds go to Lafayette for their retreat. The retreat for the rest of the student body is conducted at school. The retreat is a feature of Jesuit training and serves to foster Catholic lives in Catholic surroundings.

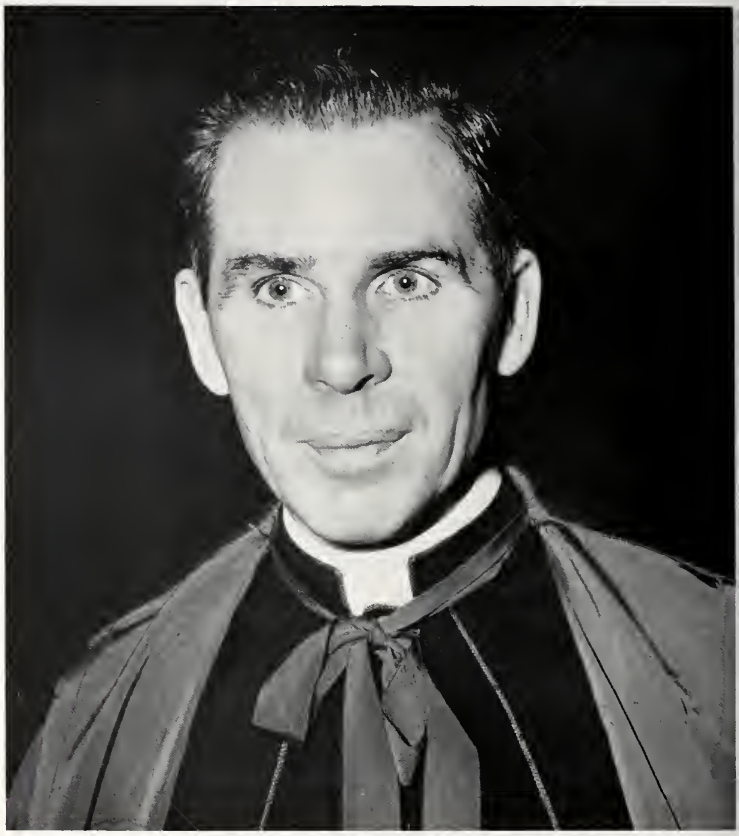
LOYOLA UNIVERSITY FORUM



The Right Reverend Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, an annual favorite of the Loyola Forum.

Monsignor Sheen puts across a point to the audience

Under the guiding hand of Reverend John A. Toomey, S.J., the Loyola University Forum presents a dual purpose program for the cultural benefit of the students as well as for the citizens of New Orleans.

The Forum is both educational and entertaining. It brings to New Orleans outstanding Catholic leaders, both religious and lay. These personages are known nationally and internationally and represent every walk of life. Their lectures deal with current topics of importance and have been well received.

Clare Boothe Luce, famous orator, journalist, playwright, and former Congresswoman from Connecticut, opened the 1948-49 series of Forum lectures at Municipal Auditorium. She spoke on the circumstances surrounding her conversion to Catholicism.

Among the others who appeared on the 1948-49 Forum program was the yearly favorite of the audience, the Right Reverend Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, internationally known Catholic philosopher, author, orator, and chairman of the Department of Philosophy at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. He spoke on "The Supreme Alternative — A Broken Heart or A Broken World."

Another yearly favorite who graced the Forum was the Reverend Bernard Hubbard, S.J., better known as the Glacier Priest. He spoke on the situation in the Far East.

Miss Elizabeth Bentley relates her experiences as a Communist party member to Forum audience.

Elizabeth Bentley, who figured prominently in the recent exposure of Communist spies, added intrigue to the Forum lectures with her talk on "I Was A Russian Spy."

Adding an international flavor to the Forum was Evelyn Waugh, famous English author. Mr. Waugh spoke on "Three World Famous Converts." His lecture closed the 1948-49 Forum series.

By a strange coincidence, the three lay speakers were all converts to the Catholic faith and two of them, Mrs. Luce and Miss Bentley, were converts of Monsignor Sheen.

To Father Toomey, Forum director, goes the thanks of the student body for bringing to New Orleans a series of outstanding speakers. Loyola University and the City of New Orleans can be proud of the Loyola University Forum.

Sigma Alpha Kappa, social academic fraternity, has as its standards scholarships, athletics, and society. It encourages scholarship by annually awarding a medal in honor of St. Thomas Aquinas to the student maintaining the highest average throughout his studies in Scholastic Philosophy. Each fall ADG and SAK have a tug-of-war in Audubon Park, of which SAK has emerged victorious for the past two years. This event and the fraternity's participation in the Loyola Bowling League displays the member's interest in sports. On December 10, 1948 SAK celebrated its Silver Anniversary with a momentous formal at the Municipal Auditorium. SAK's colors are purple and white, its flower is the white carnation.

The Greek letters Upsilon Beta Lambda stand for the "United Brothers of Loyola." UBL was organized to encourage the principles of brotherhood, to promote justice, and to instill the spirit of American patriotism in its members. Its object is to support the Constitution and to obey the laws and traditions of the United States of America, and of Loyola University. Its members are reminded that the fraternity is founded for the University and not the University for the Fraternity. UBL won the NFCCS trophy awarded to the fraternity that contributed most to the 1948 relief drive. UBL is active in all intra-mural and pan-hellenic events. Its colors are Old Gold and Peacock Blue.
